

ABSTRACT

5 Windshield wiper device, in particular for a motor vehicle, with at least one wiper arm, which can be attached to an end area (21) of a shaft (20) by means of a fastening part (23) that is attached to it, wherein the fastening part (23) is provided with a reinforcing element (24) for optimal transmission of torque.